Nonprofits Gather to Learn More About Managing Their Reserves and Receiving Planned Gifts

LONG BEACH, CALIF. – The Long Beach Nonprofit Partnership is hosting a Long Beach Community Foundation (LBCF) presentation October 6, 2015 to educate nonprofit Executive Directors and Board members on how they can manage their financial reserves utilizing the investment services offered through LBCF.

“We often hear that we are the best kept secret in Long Beach, from donors and nonprofits alike,” said Marcelle Epley, LBCF President and CEO. “Once both learn about our services, they are eager to engage in this mutually beneficial partnership with us.”

More than 25 nonprofit funds, of varying sizes, leverage LBCF to:

- Receive large gifts or illiquid assets
- Improve the nonprofit’s financial stability
- Extend financial oversight and investment capacity
- Generate a steady income stream
